Leeward Community College Community Emergency Response Team (CERT) as of July 1, 2008

The following Leeward Community College employees have completed the Community Emergency Response Team (CERT) training. CERT is a Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) sponsored training program that consists of 20 hours of training and emphasizes hands-on practice in disaster preparedness, fire safety, disaster medical operations, light search and rescue, CERT organization, disaster psychology, and terrorism. Classes are taught by training emergency personnel, including firefighters and Emergency Medical Services (EMS) personnel.

If available, emergency services personnel (first-responders) are the best trained and equipped to handle emergencies. However, following a catastrophic disaster, the College community may be on their own for a period of time because of the size of the area affected, lost communications, and unpassable roads. CERT members may be mobilized to assist the College in the event of such disasters.
