HUI PĀPOHAKU

Calling all Hawaiian Scientists!

Do you want a career in science? Do you want to know how to bring culture and science together? Do you cherish Hawaiʻi’s natural resources?

HUI PĀPOHAKU is for Leeward Community College students who are passionate about preserving Hawaiʻi’s natural resources and are pursuing or are interested in pursuing an Associate of Science in Natural Science degree. We provide a venue for students to come together, network, and learn more about their chosen fields of study. Our name honors the ingenuity of Hawaiian scientists (past, present, and future) and is a metaphor for the role we will play in supporting each other.

E hele mai, e kīpapa pōhaku pū kākou! Come, let us lay the stones together!

Stay tuned for more information on upcoming events throughout the semester!
